No Turning Point in Sight for Tiger Football as Decade of Turmoil Comes to an End

Football at Princeton University, which in the first 20 years of the post-World War II era enjoyed four Ivy championships, three 9-for-9 seasons and back-to-back rankings as the no. 1 team in the east, is currently completing a decade of unprecedented turmoil. From the closing days of 1968 to the eve of the troubled 1977 season, the era has been marked by such unhappy developments as bitter charges of racism by five black players against outgoing Coach Dick Colman; by a head-on collision over policy and procedure between incoming Athletic Director Royce Flippin and Coach Jake McCandless, which resulted in the latter's precipitous resignation; and by a four-year slide in the Tigers' fortunes that has no parallel in the sport, which traces its traditions to November of 1869.

During the bright era when the Orange and Black could largely control its own destiny, the always satisfactory, often breathtaking years of the Caldwell-Colman regime, the Tigers won more games than they lost in their series with every one of their Ivy League rivals. Hardest pressed by Yale, Harvard and Dartmouth, they nonetheless rolled to six straight victories over both the Elis and the Crimson, and at one point in the late '60's stood with Dartmouth at the top of the composite Ivy standings. Cornell and Penn won about a third of the time; Brown and Columbia almost never.

Since 1969, when Jake McCandless proved the value of T football to Princeton by directing the Tigers to a three-way tie for the Ivy title with Dartmouth and Yale, little has gone right for those who hope the home team wins in Palmer Stadium. The following fall saw the Tigers barely top the break-even point by winning a 6-3 decision over Cornell in the final game of the season, an odd contest that failed to produce a touchdown. Despite its numerous disappointments, 1970 is still the best Princeton year of the current decade; no Princeton team since then has managed to win half its games.

Doting the bleak picture are facts and figures such as these.

- The 1-8 record debited to the 1973 team was the worst in 104 years of the sport at Princeton.
- The decreasing degree of crowd appeal, traceable to such trends as five straight defeats at the hands of Pennsylvania teams which themselves are well out of contention in the Ivy race, has had a depressing effect on both support for the players and dollars at the gate. In the past four years, average attendance at Princeton games has fallen from 21,000 to 17,000, and it has been a baker's dozen years since the Stadium was last SRO.

RAISE FOR THE MAYOR?

Committee, Too? Members of Township Committee will have to face up to the embarrassing question of giving themselves raises when the applicable ordinance comes up for public hearing this Wednesday at 8 in Township Hall.

The measure raises members' pay from $1,000 to $2,500 a year, plus expenses, and the mayor's salary from its present $3,000 a year to $3,500 plus expenses.

The ordinance has the support of everyone on Committee except Mayor Josie Hall, who voted against it when it was introduced. Originally, increases were proposed by Republican Elizabeth Hutter, who goes off Committee in January, and endorsed by Democrat Margaret Broadwater, who also will be leaving then. Both members urged the change now, when it has bi-partisan sponsorship by Committee members who will not be affected.

Although the agenda calls it "new business," the deer problem is an old one in the Township, and it will be discussed this Wednesday with representatives of the state's Fish and Game Commission who have a suggestion to offer.

They call it the "Denville" plan because it has apparently worked in that community. It calls for setting aside specific areas for hunting of deer only. Hunters would have to obtain a permit from the police and wear arm-bands.

There will also be continued discussion of the Stockton-Edgerstoune bike path. State officials have told the Township that the segment connecting the end of Edgerstoune to Rosedale Road is a very important part of the whole package, and must be enlarged to seven feet in width.

The state didn't actually say the Township had to widen the link or lose the whole project, but the importance of the segment was clearly underlined, according to James Pasquale, assistant Township administrator.

Committee will introduce an ordinance suspending alternate side of the street parking for Birch Avenue on January 15, the birthday of Martin Luther King. Another ordinance will also be introduced, this one providing for purchase of a dump truck with plow and spreader, and a wood-chipper.

In work session, Committee will hear a report from Mayor Hall on the August 31 meeting with Borough officials on dividing up the 64,000 gallons a day alloted to both Borough and Township when the state partially lifted the sewer ban. No agreement with the Borough was reached at the meeting.

In another sewer matter, Committee will discuss their policy regarding the allocation of the Township's 100,000 gallons in the Montgomery-Rocky Hill-Township sewer system.

SHIRTSLEEVES.....

Council in Work Session. Suppose the Township brought only its police radio antenna to Borough Hall, and fastened it to the present Borough tower.....would that solve the Township's radio problems, or is a new and taller tower needed, perhaps right there at Borough Hall?

Robert Conroy, the Township's police radio consultant, reportedly says it isn't enough just to move the antenna to the present Borough tower, and he will sit down with Council at this Thursday's 8 p.m. work session to explain his position.

Council's usual second-Tuesday meeting date has been changed because of Jewish New Year next Tuesday, and the regular Council meeting will be held next Thursday, September 15.

Also this Thursday, Council will make a decision in the appeal of Dr. W.G. Rainey from Zoning Board action concerning his 34 Bayard Lane home. Originally, Dr. Rainey asked the Zoning Board to approve three apartments in the house. A victim of the Board's quorum rules, although Dr. Rainey got a favorable 4-2 vote, he actually lost the round because the law requires a 5-2 vote to win. The 4-2 constituted a rejection, under the law, and he took his case to Council.

At last Thursday's special Council meeting, Dr. Rainey's attorney, A.C. Reeves Hicks, startled Council by announcing that his client now wants only two apartments in the house.

This Thursday, Council will ask its special attorney on the case, Allan Porter, whether this change constitutes a new application, and whether the case can be considered on the family-occupancy basis. Mr. Porter has been called in because municipal attorney Gordon Griffin's law firm has had Dr. Rainey as a client in the past.

Council will also talk about the Borough's capital budget this Thursday, and may explore the possibility of a "flat" ordinance. Council members and Mayor Robert W. Cawley observed at last week's meeting that the Rainey case has turned the light on this issue. Under such an ordinance home-owners could create "flats" in large older homes.

ASSISTANT NAMED

For $35,500. Paul Jennings was appointed Acting Assistant Superintendent of Schools ("acting because he was sought late in the hiring season) Tuesday night at a $35,500 yearly salary, to be prorated over his September 1-June 30 term of service.

Gail Firestone unsuccessfully proposed an amendment separating appointment from salary, which caused "grave reservations", she said. However, she joined in the 9-0 approval.

Also on staffing, Hannah Fox asked Mr. Jennings how many non-tenured teachers were not recalled, and he said 12, adding that one was invited back but declined.

Questioned by Joseph P. Moore about criteria for calling back teachers, Superintendent Paul Houston said it depended on the opening available, but usually was the highest teacher in senority. Certification requirements sometimes meant the district had to go outside, he explained.

Rosalind Frisch protested "per diem" payments to teachers for summer Thorough- and-Efficient work and charged, "It was a tremendous boondoggle for some of these people." She suggested ways be found to do the work during the school year.

"I will not vote for awarding the bids for bread or ice-cream," declared Robin Wallack. "We are feeding chemicals to our children."

Mrs. Wallack has frequently urged the board to ban foods with additives in school cafeterias. The board asked Dr. Houston to plan ways a citizen-staff-board committee could work on the quality of school food, and Dr. Houston said he would like names of citizens who might be experts.

Waste in cafeteria management should also be studied, Mrs. Frisch commented. She joined Mrs. Wallack in opposing the $11,932.80 bid to Jersey Maid for ice cream and the $13,114.60 to Bond Baking Co. for bread.

Wine Talk
by Archie Browne
AHHH, THE WINES OF ALSACE!
The wines of Alsace are France's answer to the wines of Germany. They are dry and full of flavor, not as fruity as German wines and tend to be stronger in taste and alcohol. They are less delicate and less complicated.
Alsatian wines go well with rich and creamy foods (especially dishes made with goose or pork). The wines of Alsace are known by the grape variety from which they are made, and the best known are:
Riesling (Reesling) Flowery and delicate.
Gewurtztraminer (Ge-vertz-tra-mee-ner) Spicy, soft with a very pronounced perfume.
Muscat (as written) Dry, as against usually sweet wines from Muscat grapes. Light body with a slight almond taste.
Sylvaner (Sill-van-ner) A fresh, fruity wine.
Pinot Gris (Pee-no Gree) Used principally as a Carafe wine.
The wines of Alsace are almost exclusively white and should be served well chilled.

Princeton Football

● Player morale, thanks directly to the well-deserved popularity with his team of Coach Bob Casciola, remains high but there are debilitating developments other than the steady losses on the field. Last January, the administration rejected an invitation for an all-expenses paid trip to Tokyo for an exhibition game with another American college on the grounds that the players would miss five days of classes. Three months later, members of the varsity crew left the campus to participate in the San Diego Classic – six days before the race was scheduled.

● The winter was also marked by well-publicized plans for a stepped-up recruiting drive to bring more promising football players to Princeton. The pages of The Daily Princetonian were promptly filled with opinion as to whether admissions standards were being lowered for such athletes and if a winning football team was any sort of net asset. As a result, Casciola felt it necessary to defend his players from charges that they are "second-class citizens."

Unrealistic Optimism. There is a continuing tendency here to whistle in the dark, to tell the media and the public that a sizeable amount of solid personnel is at hand and that the Tigers are very close to resuming the role of Ivy contender. Two years ago, when the Orange and Black was coming off a 4-4-1 season and Ron Beible was about to begin a promising senior year at quarterback, Princeton conceded itself a relatively solid shot at the Ivy title. ("The 1975 Tiger contingent could well be the best since the '69 team shared the Ivy title with Dartmouth and Yale. And, yes, the Tigers are legitimate contenders," the press book for that season said.) That year, the final standings found the Tigers 3-4 and fifth on the ladder, ahead only of Columbia, Penn and winless Cornell.

A less prejudiced and more accurate estimate of the ability of Princeton football personnel comes from the seven other coaches, who select an All-Ivy team at the end of each season. No coach may vote for a player on his own squad.

In the last four years, Princeton has had just three players considered good enough for All-Ivy ranking: Bill Cronin in 1973, Walt Snickenberger in '73 and '74, and Ted Schiller in '75. Last fall, there were none. In four years, 96 players are chosen – 11 to each platoon plus two kicking specialists – so that during that time, the Tigers' batting average is .042.

No Light in the Tunnel. No one knows how – or when – this long and troubled era will show unmistakable signs of drawing to a close. Foremost in the ranks of those who are questioning the future is Casciola, whose current contract expires with the 1977 season. Offsetting the high degree of loyalty which player personnel feels for this friendly, forthright one-time All-Ivy tackle is his four-year won-lost record: 11 victories in 36 games. In four years, there have been only one victory over Harvard, one over Dartmouth, and none, of course, to break the string of defeats by Yale, which now totals 10.

Ten days before the 1977 season opens, the picture is bleaker than at any time since the 1973 team barely escaped losing them all when it managed to slip by Colgate. Working primarily against an end to the disorganization that grew worse as the 1976 season culminated in six consecutive defeats are two factors: for the second year in a row, Princeton will begin its season without an established quarterback, and it will do so by playing the most difficult opening third of a schedule the sport has known here in nearly 30 years.

Unable to score more than a lone touchdown in eight of their nine games last fall, the Tigers will play their first game this season at Hanover against Dartmouth – a team that is almost invariably capable of executing the fundamentals of the game as well or better than most of the opponents it meets. The following week, Princeton will be at home to face Rutgers, which said flat out more than a year ago that its goal is a place in the national rankings. In that league, winning is not always enough – if the opposition is weak, it helps to win big.

Third on the schedule is Brown, the 1976 Ivy co-champion with Yale. The game is at Providence, the renaissance which began there the same year that Casciola came to Princeton is still in high gear, and if the Princeton losing streak has not broken a 108-year record by reaching nine on the afternoon of October 1, astonishment in eastern football circles will be considerable.

As pointed out in these pages last spring, the plight of Princeton football is a gnawing paradox to the status of Tiger teams in most other sports. Their ability to win seven of 17 Ivy League championships during the last academic year is without precedent in the long history of competition among these colleges, but if anything, it serves to make the Tigers' inability to play football respectably even more galling to the sports fan who remembers the way it used to be.

Pre-curtain Bourbon?

If you belong to McCarter Associates, you can slip downstairs between the acts for a convivial Scotch. Or whatever you care to name.

The theatre's application for a club liquor license was approved last Thursday by Borough Council. As soon as the state's Alcoholic Beverage Commission grants the license, the Associates can begin to tend bar. Maybe as early as McCarter's opening night, October 6.

At first, the Borough's zoning officer, George Olexa, wondered whether McCarter might not have to meet all the tangle of parking provisions attendant upon liquor licenses. But he determined later that the club license is simply an accessory to the use--the theatre--already in existence.

It's a club license, which means the Associates can serve only to their members, not to the general public attending a performance.

ORIENTAL RUGS TAKEN

Valued at $2500. Three Oriental blue and red rugs of Persian design were reported stolen Friday from a coat closet at the Cloister Inn, 65 Prospect Avenue, where they had been stored. They were valued at $2500.

Taken from an unlocked second floor office the previous day at Dial Lodge, 26 Prospect, was a stereo set valued at $400. In another campus theft reported by Princeton University Security, a five-burner Burn-O-Matic machine, worth between $500 and $600, was stolen from the University Commons dining hall, and a large, $400 fan was taken from Dillon Gym.

In other thefts last week in the Borough, a 1977 Thunderbird with $400 in clothing inside, was stolen from behind the Princeton Pizza Palace at the corner of Nassau and Pine streets; a CB radio valued at $50 was stolen from a station wagon parked on lower University Place by a thief who used a coat hanger to enter the car; and a purse left on a rear porch of a North Harrison Street home yielded $10. The purse was later found under a pine tree on Hamilton Avenue, minus the money.

Saturday morning, a student doctor at the Princeton Medical Center reported the theft of her medical bag, which she had left by her car parked in a PMC lot. Police report there were no narcotics in the bag.

Leo Jasien, 132 Vorhees Avenue, Pennington, left his car parked at the Broadmead Swim Club Thursday with the keys inside. The car was stolen and later found by police in a Princeton University lot. Taken from it was an $80 CB unit and a $2 bill.

PEDESTRIAN STRUCK

At Nassau and Vandeventer. A 25-year old pedestrian, Linda Auerbach of 5J Holly House, Princeton, was struck by a car early last week while in a crosswalk at the intersection of Nassau and Vandeventer.

She was hit on the side but not knocked down by a car operated by Luella J. Estill, 24 Park Place. Mrs. Estill, attempting a turn, had stopped to let Ms. Auerbach cross, but was struck in the rear by a car driven by Gloria L. Frock of Kendall Park. The impact pushed the Estill car into the pedestrian.

There was no police investigation at the scene. Ms. Auerbach was treated at the Princeton University infirmary, complaining of a pain in her back and elbow.

Hydrant Sheared Off. It was raining and the streets were wet and slippery when Amabile Westby, 18, 1 Courtney Drive, Princeton Junction, attempted to stop for a red light at the intersection of Stockton Street and Elm Road.

Her car skidded through the intersection, jumped the Elm Road curb and sheared off a fire hydrant and street sign before coming to rest. Miss Westby was issued a summons by Ptl. William Hunter, for driving an unsafe vehicle. He noted in his report that both rear tires on the Westby car were bald.

REBUILT HOME TARGET

Of Vandalism, Theft. Township police report malicious damage and larceny from an old home being rebuilt at 812 State Road, across from Nini Chrysler-Plymouth.

Taken were two crow bars valued at $15, while an aluminum step ladder and new lumber were thrown about. It is owned by Emilio Castaneda of Rocky Hill-Blawenburg Road, Skillman.

A 17-year old Rocky Hill juvenile is a suspect, police said.

School Guards Needed

Borough Police Chief Michael Carnevale reported this week that there are several openings for school crossing guards.

For two operating crossings each day, morning and afternoon, of 45 minutes duration each, guards are paid $7.50. Those interested should contact Lt. John H. Bellow at police headquarters in Borough Hall.

SEWERS: OK, BUT.....

Two Contingencies. Borough Council passed the ordinance approving a service contract with the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority, but set a pair of conditions to its Thursday night action.

One hinges on municipal attorney Gordon Griffin's approval of a letter defining the formula for apportioning operating costs; the other expands the time allowed the Authority for making changes in the rules from five days to 21 days.

Township Committee is scheduled to act on its service agreement at this Wednesday's meeting at 8 p.m. in Township Hall.

TWO ARE CHARGED

With Drunken Driving. Two men were charged with drunken driving, following separate accidents last week in the Township, both involving single cars.

William O. Burdwood, 49, 156 North Harrison Street, was charged by Ptl. Harry Morton after his car ran into a gully on the property of Hibben Ziesing, 80 Edgerstoune Road, Saturday afternoon and overturned. Mr. Burdwood told police he did not remember anything after visiting a friend on Edgerstoune and being attended to by a doctor at the scene.

Mr. Burdwood was given first aid treatment for a laceration of the head by Dr. Frank Sparrow of nearby 225 Hun Road, who was traveling on Edgerstoune at the time of the mishap. The injured man was then taken to Princeton Medical Center by the First Aid Unit. He was alone in the car, police said.

According to police, as the Burdwood car left the roadway, it struck a mailbox, shattering the passenger side of the windshield, continued 39 feet down the gully, and entered a wooded area where it struck a tree, spinning the car around. It then continued for another 59 feet before coming to rest on its side on rocks at the bottom of the gully. The car was judged a total loss by police.

BELLI TO SPEAK

At University. The American Whig-Cliosophic Society at Princeton University will open its fall semester of apeakers Tuesday, September 13, with the appearance of noted defense attorney Melvin M. Belli.

Mr. Belli, who last appeared in Princeton in 1972, will speak on "The State of the Law" at 8 p.m. in the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. His appearance here precedes talks at both Yale and Harvard Univerailties.

Born in California, Mr. Belli received his A.B. and LL.B. degrees at the University of California at Berkeley. Admitted to the California Bar Association in 1933, Mr. Belli has since specialized in trial law, both civil and criminal. Important cases in which Mr. Belli has participated include "Lartique v. R.J. Reynolds Co.," the "cancer cigarette" case, in which he contended that cigarettes and cancer are causally connected; and "People v. Ruby," in which Mr. Belli defended Jack Ruby.

The Whig-Clio Society is the oldest college political and debating society in the nation. In the past the Society has sponsored such well known men and women such as Golda Meir, Betty Friedan, Gerald Ford and Dr. Henry Steele Commager. Later this fall the Society expects to sponsor visits by Lowell Thomas Sr., Dr. Carl Sagan and Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall.

DRIVE BEGINS

For Friends of Library. The annual fall membership drive of the Friends of the Princeton Public Library is underway. During the past year, over 600 Princetonians joined this organization that provides auxiliary financial support for Princeton's Public Library.

Lettera have been sent to former members asking them to rejoin. In addition, others who use and are interested in the Library are urged to join the Friends as an indication of their personal as well as fiscal support in this time of municipal budget belt tightening.

While the Library is dependent upon the municipal budgets for its operating costs, the Friends, during their 15 year history, have been able to provide many valuable extras -- special publications in science and art, films, cassettes, recordings, additions to the microfilm periodical collection, large-print periodicals and funds for special programs. The Friends make possible the leasing of the copying machines and the telephone answering service. A major share in the recent purchase of a new microfilm reader-printer was assumed by the Friends.

During the past year they prepared and had published a fifth edition of the booklet, "An Introduction to the Princeton Public Library," which is made available to new registrants and others without charge. For the homebound, there is a book and cassette delivery service staffed by volunteers from the Friends. For the second year, the Friends are supporting continuing education programs for the Library's staff.

During the coming year, as the Library develops its plans for a third-floor expansion, indication of support and enthusiasm for the Library will continue to be vital. Membership dues for the Friends of the Princeton Public Library range from an annual $5 and up. Application blanks are available on the counter in the Library.

BEE STING SERIOUS

To Township Resident. Mrs. Virginia Nelson, 9 Heather Lane, suffered a reaction to a bee sting on the small finger of her right hand last week and lost consciousness.

Responding to a call from her daughter, Sarah, Ptl. Mario Musso found Mrs. Nelson in a coma at her home and administered oxygen. He rushed her to Princeton Medical Center, where she was treated by Dr. Frank Sparrow and admitted overnight for observation. Mrs. Nelson is Advertising Manager for TOWN TOPICS.

Summer Nears an End

Can't I have
Just one more day
To stay outside
And play and play?
I'd rather fish
Some shady brook
Than go inside
And read a book

While noting that people's schedules and life-habits change after Labor Day, the Man doubted that the weather will be much different in the immediate future. That includes continuation of the heat and humidity.

Showers are a Friday possibility, the forecast says, and partially sunny skies are expected for the weekend. The long-range estimate of weather for the month looks for temperatures somewhat above normal and precipitation below average.

MAN IS CHARGED

With Shoplifting. Daniel P. Reardon, 19, of Somerville has been charged with shoplifting, after he was seen by a security guard allegedly taking a $17 pair of trousers in Bamberger's in the Princeton Shopping Center.

Mr. Reardon was taken to Township police headquarters for processing following the incident which occurred at 5:15 last Wednesday afternoon.

SMALL FIRE ERUPTS

When Fuse Shorts. An electrical short circuit Friday in a panel board at the Somerset Farms store, 55 State Road, caused some momentary flames to appear but a thrown breaker prevented further damage.

One piece of fire apparatus responded and the building was later checked and declared safe by the Princeton Fire Chief. Barbara Hanson, an employee, called police shortly after 7 p.m.

What's Cooking? The Pot. A general alarm was requested last Wednesday afternoon by Sgt. Jack Petrone after he arrived at a locked home filled with smoke at 392 Walnut Lane.

The smoke was coming, police said, from a pot filled with sauce that had been left on the stove. They were called by Greg Ferree, who had been hired by the home's owner, Alan Blinder, to paint the exterior.

Police had to open a window next to a rear door and crawl through to enter the house and unlock the rear door to allow firemen to enter.

WOMEN'S PROGRAMS SET

At YWCA. Several Women's Services Programs, ranging from a course in understanding the problems and potentials of womanhood to one in exploring the latest theories of child-raising, have been planned for the fall at the YWCA. Registration for these and other fall classes in other YWCA departments will be held Saturday from 9 to 2 and Monday from 9 to 8:30 at the YWCA on Paul Robeson Place.

Assertive training, a series of eight sessions plus two follow-up meetings, will be led by Teresa Tomarchio and Ann Thomas on Tuesdays from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and on Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30. Another course is called "Women: Feeling Good and Liking It" and will take place for two hours on eight Wednesday evenings. Sharon Blumenau, R.N. with a B.A. in psychology, is the group leader.

Parenting is a course focused on child-rearing practices and child development during the first three years of a child's life and will be available on Monday mornings from 9:30 to 11:30 and on Monday evenings from 8 to 9:30. Mid-life Crises will meet for five sessions on Monday evenings to discuss the period between ages 35 and 45 when a woman reviews the roles and options already tried or put aside. Linda Meisel, MSW, and Kay Boals from the Family Service Agency will be the leaders.

These programs will start the week of September 26. For further information call Anne O'Brien, YWCA Adult director, 924-4825, ext. 22.

CRAFT FAIR PLANNED

In Kingston. Kingston is planning a fall festival to be held Saturday, September 17, from 10-6.

The outdoor celebration along Main Street will feature dealers and artisans demonstrating their crafts. Needlework by Isabelle Leland and wooden toys by William Jenkins are some of the attractions, along with sterling silver jewelry making by Daniel Ciufo. Quilling, a Victorian art in which small strips of paper are rolled up and arranged in a design, will be displayed as well as inlaid rugs and the work of several woodcrafters.

The Kingston First Aid Squad, dressed in festive attire, will be serving ethnic foods in a cafe setting. A square dance and blue grass music will be held in the late afternoon to close the day.

Big Undercover Deal Bared! CIA Paid Princeton Researcher $765 for Characterizing Alkaloids in Morning Glory Seeds

Man's desire to control human behavior, which investigative reporting by the national media has revealed the United States undertook more than 30 years ago through the Central Intelligence Agency and its predecessor, the Office of Strategic Services, this week included Princeton University in the passing parade.

In the accompanying announcement, the University reports that an unidentified research worker in its Department of Chemistry was retained by the CIA nearly a quarter - century ago to study the characteristics of alkaloids in morning glory seeds. "As nearly as we can tell," said a University spokesman with an air of slightly puzzled disbelief, "the purpose of the research was to determine whether such seeds could produce some kind of hypnotic effect. Reference books on botany do have reference to such a possibility."

The General Counsel of the Central Intelligence Agency has informed Princeton that the University was among 86 institutions and organizations at which some research appeared to have been performed or with which one or more individuals performing some aspect of research under Project MKULTRA were affiliated. The University immediately requested that C.I.A. provide all available information.

The Central Intelligence Agency has now supplied Princeton University with copies of its materials. These materials, consisting mainly of financial documents, indicate that C.I.A. funds totaling $4,075 were paid in 1953 and 1958 for research by two individuals who were then affiliated with the University. The names of the individuals were withheld by the C.I.A.

The documents provided by the C.I.A. relate exclusively to two research undertakings by these individuals acting as consultants. Neither project was sponsored by the University, nor is there any evidence that the University as an institution was involved in this research. The University does not have any record of the research beyond the records of payment that have now been supplied by the C.I.A. Individual consulting is permitted within the limits set forth in the "Rules and Procedures of the Faculty."

In one case, an individual apparently associated with the University's Department of Chemistry was paid $765 for characterizing the alkaloids present in seeds of a species of morning glory. The work was conducted between April 18 and June 4, 1953. The documents do not say where the work was performed.

The second case also appears to involve the consulting of an unnamed individual affiliated with the University who was retained by an unnamed intermediate agency in the summer of 1958 to produce reading "packages" on American culture and another unnamed culture. Each package was to contain "an integrated report covering the major literature on social character" in the culture, along with an annotated bibliography. The documents reveal that the intermediate agency was paid $5,000, $3,000 of which it disbursed in a personal check to the consultant, along with $310 for typing costs.

The documents furnished to the University state that in the second case, the investigator was an "unwitting consultant" of the C.I.A. through an intermediate agency. In the first case, the documents do not make clear whether the investigator of the morning glory seeds knew that the C.I.A. was the source of the funds.

WORKSHOP PLANNED

In Social Roles. Registration for one day workshops sponsored by Family Service Agency of Princeton will be held Saturday from 9 to 2 at the Agency office, 120 John Street.

"Celebrating You - For Women," a day in which participants will explore the changing role of women in our society, as well as focus on discovering their individual identity, will be held on Saturday, October 29, from 9:30 to 3:30. Led by Anne Hogue and Melissa Baer, the group will work together in a variety of structured exercises focusing on "appreciating yourself, as well as valuing what you do."

On Saturday, November 19, Linda Meisel, and James Rigel will lead "Celebrating You - For Men Only." Participants will examine a changing role of men in our society, and work together on establishing different approaches to personal identity through a variety of structured group exercises.

"Spinning A New Web," a workshop for singles, will be held on Saturday, December 3, from 9:30 to 3:30. Group participants will explore ways to enrich social relationships through role play, and other exercises. Led by William Ghoads, and Dr. Kay Boals, workshop members will have an opportunity to look at approaches to developing a new social network.

All one day workshops will meet at the First Presbyterian Church of Hightstown, 318 North Main Street. For further information and registration, call 924-2098 or 448-0056, Monday - Friday, 9-5, or Tuesday evenings from 6 to 8.

MILLICENT FENWICK REPORTS

TO THE 5TH DISTRICT OF NEW JERSEY

CITIZEN'S NOTEBOOK

This week, I thought it might be useful to list a few of the stumbling blocks that people in the 5th District have told me about.

Are you a taxpayer with a problem? If you are, or if you have a complaint the local office couldn't solve, you can call or write the Problem Resolution Office of Internal Revenue Service, toll free at 800-242-6750 or Post Office Box 939, Newark, N.J. 07101.

Are you a Small Businessman with an idea? If so, New Jersey has an office in Trenton which can help to arrange loans to make the idea a reality. Amounts range from $250,000 to $5 million, but the result must lead to an increased tax base and employment in the State. Write the Economic Development Authority, Post Office Box 1446, John Fitch Plaza, Trenton, N.J. 08625, or call 609-292-1800.

Are you eligible for Food Stamps? If your net income, after shelter, medical bills and other deductions, is $6,636 for a family of four, you are probably eligible. 800-792-9773 is the toll free number in New Jersey of the office which has the information. The amendment I proposed in one of these newsletters a year ago, which will eliminate the cash requirement for the blind, elderly and disabled, has been approved by the House Subcommittee and is expected to have clear sailing through Congress. President Carter is in favor of it.

Have you made a donation to an organization which has suggested that you can make "a larger tax-deductible gift by making the check payable to ...," naming an organization to which donations are deductible for income tax purposes? If so, and if the IRS notices it, you will find that your donation was not tax-deductible at all. It's against the law for one group to "loan" its tax-deductibility to another.

Do you want to go to one of the Armed Services Academies? If so, and if you live in the 5th District, write me or one of your Senators (Case or Williams) as soon as possible, if you would like to be a candidate for the year starting September, 1978. My office in Washington, House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515, will send you the forms to fill out, and all the details.

Are you interested in a Civil Service job -- State or Federal? If so, the New Jersey Civil Service Commission (The State House, Trenton, N.J 08625), has bulletins listing the job openings. The Federal offices have quarterly bulletins -- write U.S. Civil Service Commission, 11 South Montgomery Street, Trenton, N.J. 08608, or 970 Broad Street, Newark, N.J. 07102.

Did you work for one company for ten years or more? If so, when you reach 60 years of age you may be entitled to partial pension benefits, or full benefits at 65. (This is a law which went into effect in 1974.) Check with Department of Labor, Labor Management and Services Administration, 744 Broad Street, Room 515, Newark, N.J. 07102, or telephone 201-645-3016.

Are you a veteran? If so, there may be many services you are not aware of. Loans are available for home insulation, which is important in this energy crisis, as well as home repair and improvement. You can get a loan to buy a mobile home, as well as a new home. Also, wives of veterans who died in service-related activities may also be eligible for home loans.

In addition, as a veteran, you are entitled to hospitalization and may be entitled to disability benefits, if you need them, even if your illness or disability is not service-related. Call or write the Veterans Administration listed in the Telephone book under "U.S. Government."

Are you nearing 65 years of age and thinking of Medicare? If so, you are facing a thicket of regulations -- far too complicated to list here; but these are some of the things to watch for:

1. Your 65th Birthday -- you can apply three months before it or up to three years after it. But, if you don't apply within the seven months around your 65th Birthday, you will have to pay a penalty of 10 percent a year for the rest of your life. If you wait over a year, the 10 percent becomes 20 percent; after two years, it becomes 30 percent.

2. If you have a health insurance policy -- either a personal one, through Blue Cross-Blue Shield, or a group policy through your employer -- you should check your coverage. Some policies are void after one is 65; some reduce benefits; others are available as a supplement to Medicare. It's good to have a supplementary policy because Medicare does not necessarily cover all costs.

3. Now, we come to the most incomprehensible of the Medicare regulations: If a man is older than his wife – one set of rules applies, but if he is younger than his wife, there is a whole different and most complicated set. (I learned about this particular problem through a constituent's letter.) The only

TOWNSHIP DEMOCRATS

Pope to be Manager. Carl R. Pope, assistant general manager of the Institute for Advanced Study, will manage the fall campaign of Township Democratic candidates Kate Litvack and David Klein, it was announced this week.

Mr. Pope, who said he was a lifelong Republican, explained his acceptance of the post by saying:

"In recent years, it has become apparent to me that the caliber of the candidate is more important than the sponsoring party. While this is especially true in small - town elections where community service is mainly a labor of love, it is also becoming true in national elections. Of late, I've been finding myself voting both sides of the ticket — for the individuals, rather than for the parties."

Mrs. Litvack has lived in Princeton for 11 years. She is vice - chairman of Princeton's Joint Recreation Board and a member of the Township Environmental Commission. Before coming to Princeton, she was at the Joint Center for Urban Studies in Cambridge. In Princeton, she has been affiliated with the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation and is now secretary to Mary Ellen Bowen, wife of the president of Princeton University, William G. Bowen.

David Klein, a retired foreign service officer, is executive director of the American Council on Germany, a private, non - profit foundation. He served in Moscow under Ambassadors Kennan, Bohlen and Thompson, and as head of the American diplomatic mission in Berlin in the early 1970s, oversaw the management of the Berlin city government. In that capacity he was responsible for a budget of $10 million and a staff of 190.

'Mystery Movie Star' Is Scheduled For McCarter During Coming Season

A famous woman who is "sort of a movie star" will make a single appearance at McCarter sometime during the coming season, but producing director Michael Kahn wagged his finger at reporters during a Tuesday press conference and said, "I can't reveal who it is!"

"People have been trying to lure her back to the stage for 20 years," he remarked.

McCarter is now entering the second year of its five - year Ford Foundation "challenge" grant, having successfully completed the first year by meeting the conditions of the grant: no deficit, all the debts paid and all that year's Ford money back in the bank. McCarter has a $1.5 million yearly overall budget, about one - third of which goes toward the direct costs of plays.

"We have to do it all over again, every year, and it's very difficult," Mr. Kahn said.

He spoke with feeling of McCarter's actors who receive a $260 a week top salary

"I'm so grateful to the artists and designers — they subsidize us as much as anyone else."

"Excited," as he always is this time every season, Mr. Kahn spoke warmly of the three "firsts" in this year's schedule. "The Confirmation," he said, is a play by a 26-year-old writer. A producer already has an option on it for New York It will play Philadelphia's Annenberg Theatre after McCarter.

Until now, Mr. Kahn went on, McCarter hasn't had money for a musical, so Clark Gesner's new one is a double first. Gesner wrote his first musical for Triangle Club when he was a Princeton undergraduate, and "The Utter Glory of Morrissey Hall" will be a kind of home-coming.

"A splendid, splendid play!" Mr. Kahn said feelingly of the Italian "Grand Magic". Its elderly author, Eduardo de Filippo, is regarded in Italy rather as Chaplin once was here, Mr. Kahn said, remarking that he believes in introducing the American theatre-goer to great European playwrights.

And the George Kelly revival is another Kahn pleasure: plays not so well-known by playwrights who are. He describes "The Torch-Bearers" as a "wonderfully warm farce," "Toys in the Attic," on the other hand, is a well-known play by a well-known playwright — Lillian Hellman — and so is the final offering, Shakespeare's "Much Ado."

None of these plays is experimental, in Mr. Kahn's view. When a reporter referred to last year's "Angel City" which had a splendidly polarizing effect on McCarter audiences, Mr. Kahn said with a wicked gleam:

"If a play came along as exciting as 'Angel City,' I'd do it again!"

BIG PROGRAM PLANNED

By YWCA. The fall program at the YWCA will feature a greater variety of classes, programs and interest groups than ever before.

Toddlers and grade school girls will once again share arts and crafts, games and swimming with their friends in Toddler Fun Club, Mother-Toddler Art, Girls Jamboree, The Wednesday Club and Saturday Circle, to name just a few. For the high school girls, several new courses have been added such as In Stitches, a sewing group that meets every week, and the Teen Chorale, in which girls learn a broad repertoire of music.

Women who are interested in broadening their skills, or sharpening those they already have, will enjoy the many creative classes offered. These range from a new course in international holiday cooking, and pastry potpourri to job seeking, management training, and assertive training. To gain understanding of what being a woman in today's world is all about, there are many new courses and services added to this fall's offering in the adult department.

Those who wish to keep in shape after a healthy summer may choose from a vast array of fitness, swimming, gymnastic, dance and exercise courses offered by the health and physical education department to women and girls of all ages. Registration for all courses, classes and programs will be held on Saturday, September 10, from 9 to 2 and on Monday, September 12, from 9 until 8:30. For information or for a free brochure, call the YWCA, 924-4825, or come in to the office from 9-5 after September 6.

YES, IT'S BOROUGH DEMOCRATS: Council candidates Nelson van den Blink and Leona Madvin (center) are flanked by campaign coordinators Alan Wallack and Freeholder Barbera Sigmund. In the rear, backing them all up, are Ken Reid, who will be in charge of press relations, and Claire Guthrie, treasurer.

WE ORGANIZE

Borough Democrats Ready. Labor Day is the traditional start of the election campaign in Princeton, and Borough Democrats solemnized the occasion by announcing that Mercer County Freeholder Barbara Sigmund and Princeton attorney Alan Wallack will be campaign coordinators.

They will co-ordinate more than just the campaign – their appointment co-ordinates the party as well. Mr. Wallack led the unsuccessful opposition to Mrs. Sigmund's appointment to a Mercer County Freeholder vacancy two years ago.

The candidates themselves are incumbents Nelson van den Blink and Leona Medvin. Mrs. van den Blink is running for her second three-year term on Council; Mrs. Medvin is running for her first full three-year term, having been elected last year to fill out the remaining year in the term of her late husband, Murray Medvin.

Others in the campaign staff will be Claire Guthrie, treasurer; Jessica Lamkin, voter registration; Clem Schwartz, advertising and publicity; Ken Reid, press relations, and Vera House, fund-raising.

The major fund-raising event will be a cocktail party October 15.

The candidates commented that the team they have chosen represents the spectrum of Democratic views in the Borough.

TWO STORES ENTERED

In Jugtown Area. Two stores in the Jugtown area of Princeton were entered between 5:30 Thursday evening and Friday morning. A window was broken in both, police said.

Taken from a storage area in The Whole Earth Center, 360 Nassau Street, was $800, while $39 was missing from a register in the Nordicraft shop, 356 Nassau. Detectives Douglas Watson and Ronald Holiday are investigating both entries.

Township police report an attempted entry of a home of Luigi Sasso, 174 Linden Lane, listed by them as vacant. A storm door had been pried off a cellar entrance but there was no entry. It was reported Friday morning by Mrs. Nancy DiMeglio, 22 Terhune Road.

DATE ANNOUNCED

For Bid 'N' Buy. Rocky Hill's annual Bid 'N' Buy Fair will be held Saturday, October 1, in Panicara Park, Rte. 518, Rocky Hill. From 10 until 5 there will be entertainment for all ages, booths for all interests, and food for all tastes.

The fair planners say that the Bid 'N' Buy is one of the few places parents can take a child and turn him loose with his allowance for a good time, penny candy included. Meanwhile adults may browse through green thumb, handicrafts, books, silent auction, gourmet and white elephant for bargains and early Christmas gifts. One new item, thanks to the perseverance of Bineke Oart, is a cookbook with over 350 prize recipes.

The big tent attraction is the Auction between 11 and 2 with some surprising items at bargain prices. Chairmen Ben and Marilyn Crane, 921-1413, are accepting donations, which are tax deductible. As part of the effort to recreate an old time harvest festival, there will be cotton candy, band music and a produce contest for those prize zucchini.

LITVACK / KLEIN

TOWNSHIP COMMITTEE

The right people in the right place...Kate Litvack and David Klein, Democrats for Princeton Township Committee

Cathleen Rolston Litvack has spent ten years in service to Princeton. She is working hard to preserve open space and natural beauty, enhance recreational opportunities, and create an environment for everyone to enjoy.

As Vice Chairman of the Joint Recreation Board and member of the Township Environmental Commission, Kate has played a role in planning and implementing the north side of Community Park, a unique recreational area now under construction.

Also through Kate's efforts, Princeton residents will soon be able to fish, canoe and picnic in a natural woodland setting near Lower Alexander Road, the new Turning Basin Park.

Kate is a former president of the Princeton Study Center and member of the Board of the Princeton University League. For nine years she has been a Democratic County committeewoman and is now Municipal Chairman of the Township County Committee. An active member of the Princeton Community Democratic Organization, she has also been its president.

Before moving to Princeton eleven years ago, Kate was at the Joint Center for Urban Studies in Cambridge. In Princeton she worked for the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation and the Gallup Poll. She is currently secretary to Mary Ellen Bowen, wife of Princeton University President, William G. Bowen.

Kate received her B.A. in Political Science from Wellesley College in 1964. She is married to James M. Litvack, Executive Director of the Council of Ivy Group Presidents and Lecturer in Economics at Princeton University. The Litvacks and their daughter, Dana, reside at 61 Laurel Road.

David Klein has spent almost thirty-five years in the service of the country. As a foreign service officer, he has held a number of posts which demanded a high order of management, administrative and financial expertise.

He is presently Executive Director of the American Council on Germany, a private, non - profit foundation. In this capacity, he organized last spring's American-German Conference at Princeton University. A number of Princeton residents participated in that Conference which included such notables as former German Chancellor Willy Brandt, and former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

As a foreign service officer, David served in Moscow under Ambassadors Kennan, Bohlen and Thompson. In the sixties he was a senior staff member of the National Security Council at the White House under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

As head of the American diplomatic mission in Berlin in the early seventies, David oversaw the management of the city government of Berlin. He was responsible for a budget of $10 million and directed a staff of one hundred and ninety people.

David Klein holds a B.A. from Brooklyn College and an M.A. from Columbia University. He has also studied at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration and has taught several courses in political science at the University of Maryland.

He is a retired colonel in the U.S. Army Reserve and a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and the University Club.

David and his wife, the former Anne Cochran, and their five children reside at 6 Greenhouse Drive.

Borough Agrees to Aid West Windsor In Solving Junction Parking Problem

West Windsor shouldn't have to solve a regional parking problem all by itself, Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley agrees, and he has written his assurances to West Windsor Mayor R. Ray Lockhart that the Borough of Princeton will try to help.

Last month, Mayor Lockhart wrote to mayors of all his neighboring communities pointing out that parking is a regional problem that is getting worse in West Windsor, and that West Windsor shouldn't have to solve alone, the problem of the big-city commuter who needs an all-day place to park.

Mayor Cawley has a couple of proposals. In his letter, he states that he would like to join with West Windsor and Princeton Townships in asking the state to smooth out some land it owns at the foot of University Place, into "a first-class facility" for parking. This is land now used by Irish's taxi service, which reverted to the state when Conrail decided it didn't want it.

Such an improved lot would have to be made so attractive —i.e., cheap—that commuters would park in it rather than drive to West Windsor, the mayor observed.

However, he wrote to Mayor Lockhart, this is only short-range. Long-range, Mayor Cawley has always liked the idea of a commuter parking lot on Route One, perhaps in the vacant area across Route One from the American Cyanamid plant.

Both train commuters and bus commuters to Trenton could park here, the mayor says, using the Mercer Metro bus system to get into Trenton. The Dinky could stop at this parking lot, and its customers might wait in a small shed which could be built there.

Mayor Cawley suggests a study of the economic possibilities, now, while the area in question is still undeveloped.

He has sent the letter with his proposals, to Mercer County Freeholders, the Mercer County planner, the county Improvement Authority (which runs Mercer Metro buses), the county executive and the joint Borough-Township Transporation Advisory Committee.

the various stress and withdrawal symptoms which can occur as a result of quitting smoking.

Dates for the seven sessions are September 27, 29, October 4, 6, 11, 14 and 18 with all sessions lasting from 7:30 to 9. There is a registration fee of $15, and information and reservations may be obtained by calling 924-4825, ext. 13. Deadline for registration is September 23.

YOUTH FOUND DRUNK

In 1903 Hall. A 17-year old Borough youth was arrested and charged by police with being under the influence of alcohol after he was found Friday evening inside 1903 Hall. Police said the youth had 16 bottles of beer in his possession.

He was processed by Juvenile Officer Douglas Watson and released in the custody of his mother. Police report they are also pursuing an investigation into where the youth purchased the beer.

MORE ITEMS SOUGHT

For Lions Auction. Howard Eldridge, chairman of the West Windosr Lions Club annual fall auction, has announced that two unusual items have been donated to the auction. One is an antique grandfather's clock, toward which a number of offers have already been made by people who have seen it. The other is an electric stand-alone water cooler which can be used in many locations.

Those donating items such as furniture, tools, glassware, pictures, bric-a-brac, etc. will receive a tax deductable receipt with the market value of the items. Items will be picked up by the Lions Club at the donor's convenience. Call Mr. Eldridge at 452-9579, or the Club president, Stan Perrine, at 799-1307.

COURSE LISTED

Hy Writing Program. Helikon, the after school writing program, will begin its fourth year October 1 with writing workshops for all ages.

Children ages 5-7 will work with Barbara Ackermon in poetry ond playmaking to combine music, mime and make-believe for an anthology of their own stories, songs and poetry. Children in grades 3-5 can write and make their own hard-cover books in the Create-A-Book workshop led by Kathy Kenfield, while youngsters in grades 5-8 interested in journalism can be reporters for Helikon Corner, the only newspaper written by and for youth in the greater Princeton area.

For older students there is the Middle School workshop or the teenage workshop, a chance to meet in a small group with others who like to write. A new course for the fall is Anne Reeves' story illustration, a workshop for ages 10 and up in which students will illustrate stories, design posters and do some of the art work for Helikon publications. Another new offering is the writing skills clinic in which participants from grade 6 through adult will learn how to organize and revise their writing more effectively.

For adults there is a women's writing workshop led by Joyce Greenberg, a lunch-time workshop every other Thursday and an open writing workshop on Sunday evenings. For more information and a brochure, call 924-5782, or 924-6504, or ask at the public library.

An open house will be held Thursday, September 15, from 5-7 at the Unitarian Church, Cherry Valley Road, to meet the staff and find out more about the classes.

When it comes to covering a wall, one source covers it all.

Genial, Festive Air Reigns as 'Fair in the Square' Salutes End of Summer

Sunday was Gloria Huey's day. The Cherry Hill Road gardener (lower right) won so many prizes with her exotic Far Eastern vegetables that she couldn't even remember how many there were. "Stringiest bean," "Wartiest gourd" were a couple of them. For each prize vegetable, she won luncheon tickets for two at the Nassau Inn, sponsor of the Labor Day week-end "Fair in the Square." She can probably eat there, on the house, every day for a week.

The big melon on the table with Mrs. Huey is her wintermelon, and the "most gigantic gourd" is next to it.

That's a Democratic tomato: Nelson van den Blink (lower left) who happens to be running for re-election to Borough Council, won the most votes for the biggest tomato. The crowd in the upper left, has gathered to watch caricaturist Bill Crowley, who is completely out of sight behind all the balloons. (Staff Photos)

Proposed Cutbacks in Train Service to New York Concerns Business Interests Here and Commuters

Amtrak officials will meet with representatives of all the states involved in Amtrak's recent train cutbacks, particularly with New Jersey representatives, an Amtrak spokesman said this week.

He added, "It's a big question mark as to what will come out of those meetings."

For commuters who head for Princeton Junction each morning to travel to New York, the schedule change appears to have considerable impact. At least one real estate agent in Princeton expressed the opinion that the proposed cutback would have an adverse effect on the sale of homes in the area if commuting becomes more difficult.

Two morning trains between Princeton Junction and New York, will be cancelled. One is Train 250 which arrives at the Junction at 6:30 a.m., and is reportedly always crowded. The other is Train 204, which arrives at the Junction at 9:51 a.m. and is used by those who plan shorter hours in the city.

Train 237, which leaves New York at 6:35 a.m., stops at the Junction at 7:31 a.m. and then proceeds to Trenton, arriving at 7:41, will also be eliminated.

At the other end of the day, only one train from New York to Princeton Junction will be cancelled. That is Train 227, leaving New York at 7:05 p.m. and arriving at the Junction at 7:59 p.m.

All other late afternoon and evening cancellations are out of Philadelphia.

Train 220, leaving Philadelphia at 5 p.m. and stopping at the Junction at 5:45 p.m.; Train 222, leaving Philadelphia at 8 p.m. and arriving at the Junction at 6:50 p.m. and Train 42, leaving Philadelphia at 8:15 p.m. and arriving at the Junction at 8:55 p.m., will all be cancelled.

Daily newspapers were wrong, the Amtrak spokesman said, in reporting cancellation of Train 219 leaving New York at 4:34 p.m. and arriving at the Junction at 5:28 p.m. and at Trenton at 5:38. That train will remain.

The spokesman, who asked that his name not be used because people would call him with personal attacks, said that if a state commuter agency had a commuter train close in schedule to a cancelled Amtrak train, Amtrak would probably suggest that the state add extra cars.

struggle with a weight problem.

Men, women and teenagers are welcome to join at the conclusion of the Open House and at future meetings. More information of other locations may be obtained by calling 799-1863.

Lonnie Collins Remembered.
To The Editor of Town Topics:

On the Saturday before last, when Lonnie Collins bicycled down Spring Street, he saw me working in my yard so he stopped to chat awhile as was his custom. We were old friends. When I bicycled across the campus and saw him working in his "yard," I used to stop to pass the time of day.

I was grateful for his loving attention to the grass, walks and people of the University. On the day of his funeral, we might well have lowered the Princeton flag to half mast.

On that day, coming home from work, I noticed the big ash tree in front of Nassau Hall had dropped some of its branches – for some reason, maybe just the weight of the rain – which seemed fitting.

Don't Give Up Without Trying.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Princeton people are urged to read "The More We Spend, The Less Children Learn," N.Y. Times Magazine Section, Aug. 28. This is a condensation of Frank E. Armbruster's "Our Children's Crippled Future: How American Education Has Failed." It reads like a profile of Princeton public schools.

It's no good to say, "Public education is insane all over the land, why try to do anything about it in Princeton. Well, we must begin somewhere, so why not here at home? As a matter of fact, the new principal at one of our schools has transformed the place, within one year, from a hell-hole into a reasonably safe place where legitimate education can occur.

As far as I know, there was no "massive input" of additional funds, no hiring of phoney "experts," and no costly "staff development" gimmick. I understand that the new principal told employees and children what was expected of them and then saw to it that they did it.

Why don't we urge our school board to replace our mouldering heap of greedy and ineffectual administrators with people who have the heart and the head to do what they're hired to do? Some citizens say, "We couldn't afford the pay-offs. Remember, better than $45,000 to get rid of an unsatisfactory superintendent, better than $16,000 to soothe the hurt feelings of an employee whose useless administrative job was abolished but who was transferred to another high-paying job of doubtful value to public education."

But are pay-offs really necessary? Why doesn't our school board take our just complaints to the courts instead of knuckling under to rulings by our ridiculous State Department of Education? In short, why give up without trying?

At present our school board is negotiating with the Administrators' Union for higher pay and higher perquisites. Before the board initials or signs away our right to honest public education at a fair price, why don't we – all of us – say "No."

Let's now, right now, call a halt to rewards for inferior performance. A halt to wasted money and wasted minds. I know how difficult it is to "get through" to the school board. But we now have three

POSTPOSEMENT GRANTED
For West Windsor Developer. Plans of William L. Bamberger Associates Inc. for a convention center, railroad museum, offices and parking on both sides of the Penn Central tracks, will be presented to the West Windsor Zoning Board at its October 6 meeting.

The proposals were scheduled for presentation last Thursday, but the Zoning Board granted the postponement because a Bamberger attorney was unable to be present.

Informally, Thomas P. Akikas of the Bamberger firm, and a representative from Land Design Associates, which has designed the project, talked with neighboring property-owners. Many of them expressed concern about the effect of the development on their homes.

After the October hearing, there will be special meetings allowing the Zoning Board an opportunity to hear from the public and municipal representatives.

DEVELOPMENT OPENED

News Of The CHURCHES

McCORD NAMED

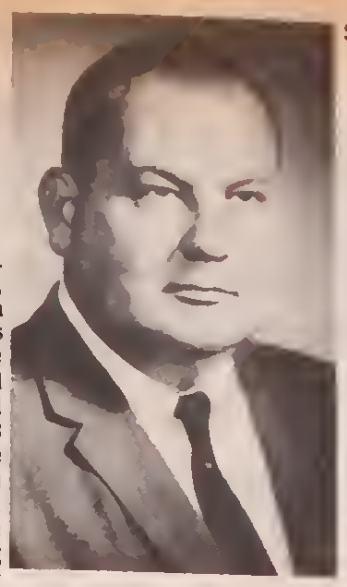
To Head World Alliance. The Rev. James I. McCord, president of Princeton Theological Seminary has been elected president of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches, an international organization of 143 denominations which trace their historic and theological roots to the Reformation. Dr. McCord has been active in the Alliance since 1948, chairing its Department of Theology from 1959 to 1970 and serving as secretary of the Alliance's North American and Caribbean Area Council until a year ago.

Dr. McCord came to Princeton in 1959 to assume his role as president of the seminary, having previously served as dean and professor of systematic theology at Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Texas. He has held posts as professor of Bible at the University of Texas and as pastor of the University Presbyterian Church in Austin.

He succeeds William P. Thompson, of 60 Ross Stevenson Circle who is also president of the National Council of Churches and stated clerk of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church.

REGISTRATION SUNDAY

For Nassau Church Courses. Registration for Christian Education courses at Nassau Presbyterian Church, Nassau Street and Palmer Square, will be held Sunday at 11. The Rev. Leslie M. Kolbjornsen, Carl Brown, Lois Young, Marcia Van Dyck and Jock McFarlane are members of the Christian Education



Committee which has assembled a large staff and a program of great variety for every age group. Registration provides an opportunity to meet teachers and leaders, look over materials and enroll in courses.

The program ranges from the pre-school program for infants through kindergarteners, to the traditional church school, to the Learning Community, a team-taught, multi-age class involved in a variety of educational experiences around this year's theme, "What God Can Do Through People." The Adult Education program, coordinated by Tita Vivian, will begin on October 2 and will have a session at 9:30 on the subject "From Bondage to Freedom," and another at 11 on Christian parenting, led by Arthur Kolbjornsen, a counselor at Corner House.

EVENTS LISTED

At Christ Congregation. Christ Congregation will resume the fall schedule on Sunday with worship at 10 followed by classes for youth and adults. Adults may choose between "Social Concern Issues: world hunger, freedom and human rights, and energy," exploring concrete ways we can respond as individuals and as a congregation; and "Studying and Teaching the Bible," developing and sharpening interpretative skills.

In the evening a new family cluster series will begin at 5:30 in the home of the McColloughs in Hopewell. Beginning with a no-frills pot luck supper, there will be time for sharing experiences, discussing Rites of Passage for Christians, and closing with a worship experience developed by the Cluster. For further information, call Nancy or Manford Wright-Saunders 452-1251.

SERVICES PLANNED

For Jewish Holidays. The Jewish Center, under the leadership of Rabbi Melvin J. Glatt, and assisted by Cantor Herbert Malumut, will have services for the Jewish New Year beginning Monday at 7:15 p.m. and continuing on the mornings of September 13 and 14.

The morning service will include the awe-inspiring "Shofar Service" -- the blowing of the traditional "ram's horn" calling the people to prayer. Rabbi Glatt will also deliver his sermon on these mornings.

On Wednesday evening, September 21, at 6:45 p.m. Rabbi Glatt and Cantor Malumut will lead the Kol Nidre Service for Yom Kippur, the Date of Atonement, considered the most important of Jewish Holidays. Yom Kippur is a Fast Day and the Wednesday Service will include special memorial or Yizkor prayers for the departed and for martyrs.

There will also be special children's services on Tuesday morning, September 13, and Thursday morning, September 22, in the Bet-Am.

BULLETIN NOTES

A street fair and craft show featuring handtooled leather goods, houseplants, pottery, copper enameling, silver jewelry, antiques, reversed inking on glass, painted rock sculptures, paintings, plus baked goods, homemade jams and jellies, hot dogs, lemonade, cookies and candies will be held on Saturday from 9 to 4 on the lawn of the Princeton United Methodist Church, corner of Nassau and Vandeventer Streets.

The religious school of The Jewish Center will start classes on Sunday at 9. Mrs. Roslyn Staras has been appointed principal and will lead the school in new curricula under a two track system which will feature a "Language Enriched Program."

The students will receive more basic training and an intensive language course. An enlarged faculty has been engaged to provide the best training and education available. Registration and sale of books will be held on Thursday afternoon, from 4 into the evening.

The Jewish Center at 435 Nassau Street, will hold Sabbath Services on Friday, at 8:15 led by Rabbi Melvin Jay Glatt. Saturday morning services will begin at 10. Robert Miller of Wheatsheaf Lane will be called to the Torah as a Bar Mitzvah.

The Rev. John H. Marks will lead the final service in the summer series of chancel worship services Sunday at 10 in the Princeton University Chapel. An alumnus of the University of Denver, Princeton Theological Seminary and the University of Basel, Switzerland, Dr. Marks is a member of the faculty in Princeton Univeraity's department of Near Eastern studies.

Crosstown 62 Appreciated.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As one of the riders of "Crosstown 62," I wish to applaud the Township Committee. Thanks, and I know there is hardly enough praise for this great help for us. But let us not forget George Conover, without whose help we would not have this outstanding service. Sometimes I use the Crosstown 62 transportation daily and it makes all the difference for me. The feeling of independence is invaluable.

So let us give a heartfelt "Thank You" to George Conover also.

Fox & Lazo, the largest Realtor in the Delaware Valley, is expanding into the Princeton area and is looking for dedicated sales associates.

We've been in business since 1886. Last year, we did a sales volume of $58 million.

Now we're expanding aggressively.

Into the Philadelphia Main Line. Into Bucks County.

And Central New Jersey.

The man in charge of our Princeton Junction office is Jack Burke, our vice-president.

Jack blueprinted our expansion plan. And he's looking for the kind of people he knows can make it work.

A proven sales record would be nice — but it's not mandatory. The right attitude is. And our two-week training program will get you off on the right foot.

Call or write Jack today. This is probably what you've been waiting for.

CREAM RIDGE IN MONMOUTH COUNTY

A most interesting country Colonial house is just being completed on a lovely bit of countryside. 200 foot frontage by 600 foot front lot depth.

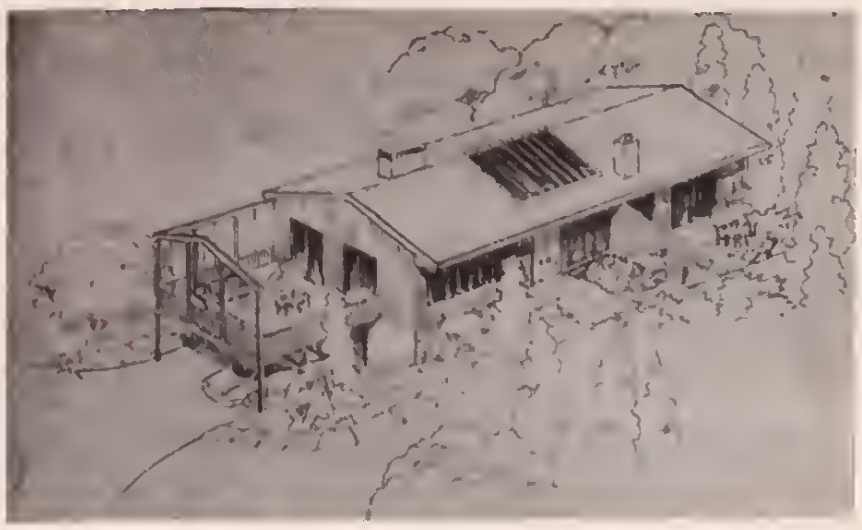
PENNINGTON

Lovely two story Colonial-style house on a half acre lot in town, stone and aluminum siding construction. The living room has a handsome native-stone fireplace. There is a formal dining room as well as family dining area in the kitchen. Beyond is a breezeway-porch connection to the two car garage. There are four bedrooms, a full bath and a powder room. This is a most attractive value at $79,900

PRINCETON TOWNSHIP

On three-quarters of an acre in the attractive Braeburn area. The property is beautifully wooded for privacy, naturalized with bulbs and flowering shrubs, lawns sloping down to a charming brook.

The house, a traditional design of two stories has a large living room with bookcases and cabinets, dining area, kitchen with built-in china cupboard, den, powder room and screened porch. Upstairs are 3 bedrooms and two full baths, excellent storage. The present owner is asking $120,000 for this superb property.



A sleek contemporary house is now under construction on a 4.5 acre lot with trees and a lovely view.

Imagine breakfasting in a lush, year round subtropical garden...right in your own home. We've seen many a house with inside planters, but never one actually built around a garden. The cathedral ceilinged living room, dining room, kitchen and entry all open directly to this central skylighted garden. Another plus is 1,000 Sq. Ft. of hand crafted imported Bologna ceremic tile and Bufalini Italian marble.

Also on this level is a master bedroom with super dressing room and bath.

Cortelyou Farm School, Founded 40 Years Ago, Teaches Children about Life in Rural Setting

"I'll bet half the kids in this town grew up with Ruth Cortelyou," a Princeton mother said the other day. "I know my own child refused to go on to a regular school after she was too old for the Cortelyou Farm School."

The big sprawling sand-pile, the two classrooms, the goat and the sheep and the rabbits and the chickens.....opening day, September 14 marks the 40th anniversary of the Cortelyou Farm School on the Cortelyou Farm, outside Rocky Hill.

Grandmothers who used to drive their own toddlers down the long lane are now taking grandchildren there and when they see the place for the first time in a generation, they all say with a smile, "Why, it looks just the same!"

Some 35 children, from those who will be 3 years old by December, to the 5 year olds in the regular Cortelyou kindergarten, will mill around the big farmyard that first day.

FARM SCHOOL: Laura Cortelyou, grand-daughter of Ruth Cortelyou, learns from grandmother how to feed the animals (the woolly one is Mary Jane, the goat is Fred), just as toddlers do in the Cortelyou Ferm School. This is the school's 40th anniversery.

Helping Them to Grow. "Parents like my philosophy of developing the whole child," Mrs. Cortelyou says. "We want children to learn to be happy away from home in an easy, friendly atmosphere. I take the children from where they are, and help them grow."

Ruth Cortelyou believes firmly that Princeton children are over-organized.

"Why, it's dancing one afternoon and tennis the next and Cub Scouts the next and some other sport after that! Kids need a little time just to dream, and think of what they are and what they want."

For the older children, those in kindergarten or the four-year-olds, for example, there is reading readiness but no pushing.

"I'm not a great believer in teaching reading until the eyes are properly developed, sometime around the age of 6," she explains. "You could spend all year on a primer, whereas if you waited until the right time, the child would gobble it up in a few weeks."

Reading and number readiness, learning how to write numbers, learning the phases of the moon, encouraging the child who is obsessed by model airplanes, guiding that child who did indeed gobble up a primer at the age of four...all these are part of the "curriculum."

Nature Study, Too. "It's a unique set-up, here on the farm," she says, holding out a piece of bread for Fred, the goat. "We can do all the conventional things for toddlers, plus a lot of science. They can watch polly-wogs in our pond, see the squirrels hiding nuts, see the deer eating seeds from the apples on our trees, learn that we need bees to polinate so we can have apples."

"Teachers tell me that kids from here have so much more background in science than others.....although, of course, some take it in and some don't. I remember one four-year-old who could identify several kinds of apples. Went on to science, in college."

Because it's a working farm, there is no sentimentality about the animals. When children help prepare a chicken lunch, they know it's a chicken from the coop. They don't have to watch when the chicken is killed if they don't want to, but some are always interested. In the fall, when pheasants and rabbits hang for curing after the hunt, the children don't have to look at them if they don't want to.

".....and if a hunter drives in with a deer on the bumper of his car, we explain very carefully -- THIS IS NOT SANTA CLAUS' REINDEER!"

A Turn in the Kitchen. At least twice during the year, the children do help fix a meal, and many a three-year-old who has refused scrambled eggs at home has shoveled them cheerfully in, after helping to do the scrambling.

Scrambled eggs, incidentally, are by-products of Easter-egg blowing. For another holiday, children make Hanukah potato pancakes and at a seasonally appropriate time, there is pumpkin pudding. All the children have their own jack-o-lanterns chosen from the big pumpkin patch.

School is out before much can be done about a garden, but this year the children planted and harvested a fine radish crop, and always there is planting indoors in pots, so you can see the life that was there all the time in the lima bean.

While Ruth Cortelyou talks, a rooster crows from time to time, a pair of grandchildren bang the screen door, another grandchild – she has nine, from her five children -- telephones and promises to pick peaches.

"Children in the school here see our whole big family," she says as she hangs up the phone. "My own grandchildren are always in and out. My son, Garrie, lives down the road and he'll be around with his tractor – it's

New Season at McCarter, Opening October 6, To Offer Shakespeare, Hellman, 3 Premieres

EILEEN HECKART RETURNS: She'll play the role of Headmistress Julia Fayside in a new musical, "The Utter Glory of Morrisey Hall."

IT'S PAT HINGLE: The actor has been signed to direct Lillian Hellman's "Toys in the Attic" at McCarter during the new season.

Three premieres, a 1920s farce, Lillian Hellman and William Shakespeare will be on the McCarter boards in the season that starts next month.

"The Confirmation." The theatre will open its doors with the world premiere of a new play by American playwright Howard Ashman called "The Confirmation." Opening night will be Thursday, October 6.

The play is described as a portrait done with humor and passion, of a man whose struggle for integrity puts him in conflict with his own family, and its desire for "the good life." Herschel Bernardi, Minnie Gentry and Zahra Lampert will play the leading roles, and Kenneth Frankel will direct.

"The Utter Glory of Morrisey Hall." It's a musical -- McCarter's first. Clark Gesner, who did "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," has written book, music and lyrics about a prim academy for young ladies in England. The academy is turned into a wild roughhouse by its 15 unabashed, uninhibited and imaginative boarders. Eileen Heckart, returning to McCarter, will make her musical comedy debut as the headmistress. The musical will open November 3, under Nagle Jackson's direction.

News Of The THEATRES

"Grand Magic." Italy's Eduardo de Filippo, whom Thornton Wilder called "an incomparable dramatist," has written about the scheme of a phony magician to abduct a sexy young wife. His plans turn into full-blown hallucination and McCarter describes the result as "a savory brew of chaos, calamity and comedy." This production will be the American premiere of the play, and opening night will be December 1.

"The Torch-Bearers." Rich amateur actors decide to put on a dreadful one-act play in George Kelly's backstage farce from the 1920s. Everything that can go wrong, does and McCarter is gleefully predicting "a hilarious and major theatrical event." Michael Kahn will direct. Opening night is January 19.

"Toys in the Attic." Lillian Hellman points out in this play that the innocent sometimes bring injury -- irreparable injury -- to those they love. The actor Pat Hingle will make his debut as a director in McCarter's production. It will open March 2.

"Much Ado About Nothing." Beatrice and Benedick will sharpen their rapiers once again in this, perhaps the wittiest of Shakespeare's comedies. It's the one with Dogberry and his friends, and the impossible calumny against the virtue of Hero. It will conclude McCarter's season with an opening night on March 30.

'MUSIC' RETURNS

To Bucks County Playhouse. "The Sound of Music" has returned to the Bucks County Playhouse and will run through September 17. The show played to near capacity audiences for its first run during August.

The well-known love story of Captain Georg von Trapp and Maria Rainer overflows with music and the breath of life. It is set in the beautiful mountains of Austria in 1938 shortly before the Anschluss.

PREMIERE SCHEDULED

At George St. Playhouse. The George Street Playhouse in New Brunswick will present the world premiere of "Dark Symphony," a one-man exploration of black culture in America, compiled and performed by Dwight Collins. The show is a pre-season event that will play from September 13-18 at 8:30 at the Playhouse, 414 George Street.

"Dark Symphony" follows the assimilation of the black man into American culture and tracks his transformation from African to Afro-American. The point of departure for modern black man is the Harlem Renaissance of the 1920's, when the seeds of his faith in his fellow man and the beginnings of his identity were nurtured. Collins will dramatize excerpts from the work of James Weldon Johnson, Langston Hughes, Jean Toomer and Countee Cullen.

"Dark Symphony" is directed by Eric Krebs with choreography by Terri Austin. Avery Brooks served as script consultant. General admission is $4, $3 for students and senior citizens. All tickets must be reserved in advance at the box office, 201-246-7717. Additional performances are scheduled for October 25 and November 15 and will be scheduled on a monthly basis throughout the season.

The George Street Playhouse will open its fourth professional season on October 7 with a production of N. Richard Nash's romantic comedy, "The Rainmaker." For season schedules and subscription information, call the Playhouse. An advertisement appears in this section.

CIRCUS TROUPERS: Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, Hoxie's Great American Circus is coming to the Princeton Shopping Center Thursday, September 15, for performences at 4 and 8 p.m. These elephants will do some of the heavy work in setting up the big top tent, and Hoxie's welcomes curious onlookers during the process. The young lady is one of the performers in acts which include trapeze artists, trained horses and dogs and balancing acts.

CIRCUS IS COMING

To Shopping Center. The Chamber of Commerce will again hold its annual fund-raiser in the form of a good, old-fashioned circus. Repeating last year's successful Bicentennial presentation of Hoxie's Great American Circus, the colorful circus vans and huge "big top" will be back, this time at the Princeton Shopping Center on Thursday, September 15.

Hoxie's Circus features acts from all over the world, and travels throughout the country performing nearly daily during the spring, summer, and fall seasons. The more than 25 vans in which Hoxie's troop travels are not just equipment carriers; for much of the year they are home to the troop, who live, eat, and sleep in them while on tour.

Remintscent of the big top circuses of yesteryear, Hoxie's arrives in the small hours of the morning and the tent crew blocks out the tent site at dawn after a short sleep. The tent will be up in a few hours, using elephants for some of the heavy work, along with a little assistance from some modern machines.

The performers then wake up to start practicing their acts for the show. For those who have never seen a circus actually set up, it is quite a spectacle, and Hoxies welcomes curious onlookers during this process.

This year's schedule calls for two shows at the Shopping Center, one at 4 and another at 8. Hoxie's will also put on a special show this year at the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute in Skillman at 11 the morning of the 15th, in response to a special request by the Chamber of Commerce.

The circus acts include, among others, trapeze artists, trained horses and dogs, balancing acts, and the return again this year of Buck Owens, the world's tallest clown at 7'1" and Kongo, the gorilla, in the side show.

Ticket prices are $1.50 for children and $2.50 for adults, if purchased ahead, but $2 and $3 at the box office on circus day. Tickets are available from Hinkson's, Allens Children's Shop, Hulits Shoes, Nassau Hobby and Crafts, and the First National Bank.

At the shopping center, tickets may be purchased from Punchinello Children's Shop, the Toy Carousel, Noah's Ark, Center Stationers, Princeton Hardware, Princeton Bank and Trust Company, and the Shopping Center Office. Tickets are also available at the Chamber of Commerce office at 44 Nassau Street.

ARTISTS LISTED

For 83d Concert Season. The 83d season of the Princeton University Concerts will begin its Series I events with Alexis Weissenberg, pianist, on October 17, followed by Itzhak Perlman, Violinist on November 14, the brilliant chamber group "Orpheus Ensemble" on February 13 and Barry Tuckwell, the "wizard of the French horn" on March 20.

It has always been the privilege and pleasure of the University Concerts audiences to be introduced to artists on their way to fame. Names such as Shirley Verrett, Janet Baker, Lorin Hollander, the Guarneri Quartet, Murray Perahia come to mind. They were presented by the Princeton University Concerts at the beginning of their careers, relatively unknown but obviously of "star quality," and the audiences could report: "we heard them first on the Series."

In this spirit, the 1977-78 season of Series II will present the Sequoia String Quartet (winner of a Naumburg award) and William Parker, baritone (winner of numerous awards and highly acclaimed in European opera houses and concert halls). Two old friends - the Beaux Arts Trio and the Amadeus Quartet will complete the Series. Dates of the four concerts are : October 10, December 5, February 27 and April 17.

All concerts are held Mondays at 8:30 in McCarter Theatre. Subscriptions are available to both series till October 1, at considerable savings over single ticket prices and special low rates for non-tenured faculty and students of all area schools. For further information call 924-0453, Monday through Friday, 10 to 4, or write to the Concert Office, Woolworth Center, Princeton University, Princeton, N.J. 08540.

AUDITIONS THIS MONDAY

For Mercer County Chorus. The Mercer County Chorus begins its 28th season September 19 at 8 p.m. in the War Memorial Building in Trenton.

Opera Auditions Planned

Princeton Opera Association will hold auditions for its fall production, "Help! Help! the Globolinks," a children's opera by Gian Carlo Menotti.

Auditions will be held Saturday at the Methodist Church from 11 to 3.

Needed are a soprano, mezzo soprano, tenor and baritone and a chorus of children under the age of 12. Call Sylvia Rossman at (609) 443-6655 for an appointment.

Persons interested in joining the chorus may audition this Monday evening, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the War Memorial Building.

The chorus is comprised of people from all walks of life who share a love for singing. Membership is open to anyone who wishes to share in this kind of experience.

Plans for the coming year include participation in the Annual Ecumenical Thanksgiving Service in November, a combined concert with the Garden State Theater Organ Society December 3 and possibly an additional Christmas program consisting of both popular and sacred selections. The spring season will probably be planned to include a concert of sacred music and a concert featuring popular music by the chorus and the specialty groups.

VAUDEVILLE IS BACK

As English Music Hall. Jason Barnes of the National Theatre in London will return to the Mercer County Community College as guest director for another evening of authentic English Music Hall Friday, Saturday and Sunday at 8 p.m. in the Kelsey Theatre on the West Windsor Campus. Additional performances have also been scheduled on Friday and Saturday, September 16 and 17.

Similar to America's vaudeville, English Music Hall features a series of songs, skits, character impersonations and ensemble production numbers that have entertained English audiences for more than 100 years.

READY TO ACT?

Creative Theatre Opens. A new offering – Performance Workshop for pre-teens and teens – will mark the ninth season of classes and workshops offered by Creative Theatre Unlimited.

An open house will be held Thursday, September 15 from 7 - 9 p.m. at CTU's studio in Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street Princeton, so that students and parents may meet the teaching staff and learn something about the curriculum.

Registrations for the fall term will be taken at the open house, and classes will start October 3 at the Princeton studio, and October 4 at the Old School Cultural Center in Cranbury. Three ten-week terms will be offered during the school year.

Performance Workshop, is offered for students in grades six through 12 who have completed one year of study with Creative Theatre. The Workshop, which will extend through all three terms of the year, will explore all phases of theatre in an intensive program leading to a spring production. It will be given Fridays from 4-6.

Varied Instruction. Improvisation, acting techniques, voice, movement, stagecraft, lighting and stage design have been included in the curriculum. In addition, students will learn about many kinds of stagings such as proscenium, thrust and in-the-round. Pam Hoffman, director of CTU's performance troupe, will be the instructor.

She will also direct the regular creative drama and theatre course for students in grades six through nine. It will be held on Wednesdays from 4 to 5:40 p.m.

In the filmmaking class, to be held Mondays from 5:30 to 7:30, students will learn the techniques of animation, pixillation, documentary and scripted film, and also editing for 8 mm, super 8mm and 16mm. All students will produce their own short films, and may call on others in the class to act, or handle special effects.

For the youngest, CTU will offer Idea Workshops in which they will learn about sensory awareness, movement, sound and art. In improvisations, they will learn the difference between imagination and reality.

Hours Listed. Four-year-olds are invited for Thursdays from 2:45 to 3:45. Kindergarteners and first-graders are scheduled for Thursdays from 4-5 p.m.; second and third-graders on Mondays from 4-5:30 p.m. and fourth and fifth-graders on Tuesdays from 4 to 5:30 p.m.

In Cranbury, classes are offered on Tuesdays from 2:45 to 3:30 for four-year-olds, and 4 to 5:30 p.m. for second and third-graders.

Joan Robinson and Barbara Ackerman are the teachers for young people's classes.

Adults may study acting from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesdays. High-school students may participate in the course with the consent of the instructor, Honora Neumann. Ms. Neumann, who will perform later this year with the Mabou Mines Theatre Company, introduces students to contemporary acting techniques through improvisation and scene study.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Creative Theatre at 924-3489.

PLAYERS MAKE PLANS

For Four Plays. Relaxing momentarily from their August production of "Oliver", which reportedly broke attendance records at Washington Crossing Open Air Theatre, Princeton Community Players have announced a program of four plays for their 45th season.

The opener will be "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie," by Jay Allen from the novel by Muriel Spark. It will run from November 4 to 19, with Susan Tapper directing.

Churchill Clark will direct "Queen Jane," by Marvin Cheiten, scheduled to play weekends from January 13 to 28. "The Boys in the Band," by Mart Crowley, will be the third production, from March 3 to 18. John DelMoote and Ed Watkinson will direct. Woody Allen's "Play It Again, Sam," directed by Leo Cohen, will conclude the season with weekend performances April 28 to May 13.

Three types of subscriptions are offered by the Players. A $12 subscription will be good for any four performances, with the option to use at any time – all for the same production or spaced out among several or all plays. A subscription for Sundays will cost $7 for four performances.

The third type is a combination subscription and membership costing $20. As membership dues in the players are $10, this one offers four tickets for $10. Subscriptions may be ordered by writing to Princeton Community Players, Box 2171, Princeton, N.J.

The public as well as current Players members are invited to a season-opening party Sunday, September 18 from 3 to 6 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Cohen, 443 Herrontown Road.

Cortelyou Farm School

the same tractor his grandfather had, and the other day a man came here to enroll his child and saw that tractor, and he was just overcome with nostalgia, 'Why, that's the same tractor I used to climb on when I was a kid! he said. It belonged to my father-in-law."

Cold Air Is Healthy. Winters, when the bulldozer plows the road, it piles the snow in a lovely mountain for sledding. There is skating on the pond, and no matter how cold it is, everybody gets bundled up in scarves and snowsuits and boots and goes outside, even if it's just for a run around the chicken-coop, or to see where the sheep has gone, or to feed the goat.

"We have one of the best health records in the state," Mrs. Cortelyou reports, "and a doctor told me we have fewer colds because we do get the children outside."

Inside, children will be listening to stories and telling stories -- to get ready for learning to read -- doing finger, sponge or easel painting, perhaps making cranberry sauce or gingerbread.

In the summer, of course, there is the camp, newer than the nursery school, and planned for older children as well as toddlers, so it is possible to spend all year on the farm.

On her staff, Ruth Cortelyou has her daughter-in-law Nancy in charge of the three-year-olds, assisted by Peggy Lanza. Jerry Fierst is in charge of the four and five-year-olds, and Mrs. Cortelyou herself is everywhere. She is, incidentally, certified by the state to teach through sixth grade.

A woman called one day to report on her toddler. The woman herself had gone to the Farm School, and she said to Mrs. Cortelyou, "I was afraid I'd built it up too much -- you know how it is -- I was afraid my kid would be disappointed. I just wanted to tell you he was thrilled!"

SPORTS FANS

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to you
By John Barnard

Here's a football oddity...There's a man who played only basketball--and not football--in college, yet played football in three different Super Bowl games with three different teams! ... Running back Preston Pearson played only basketball, and not football, in college at Illinois, but he was drafted by pro football and played for the Colts in Super Bowl III, the Steelers in Super Bowl IX and the Cowboys in Super Bowl X.

Did you know that only three teams in college football history have ever played in, and won, the Rose, Orange, Sugar and Cotton Bowl games ... Who are the only teams to win all of these bowl games? ... They are Alabama, Notre Dame and Georgia Tech.

If your favorite football team gets off to a bad start this season, here's a fact to keep in mind ... A major college football team once lost every game through the first 40 percent of their season – yet wound up with their conference championship and a bowl bid! ... Texas A&M in 1967 opened the season losing four straight – but then they won their last six, won the Southwest Conference title, and went to the Cotton Bowl, in one of the great comebacks of all-time.

I bet you didn't know ... that our $10,000 major medical with a $250,000 limit could cost a man age 50, wife age 48 and two children as little as $240 per year.

PHS Football Team Searching for Quarterback But Expects to Be in Thick of Conference Race

(This is the first of three articles on prospects of the 1977 PHS football team.)

Princeton High football coach Jim Beachell welcomed back 17 returning lettermen the first day of practice last week – more than in any of his previous three years as head coach – but the one he had his arms open widest for isn't among them.

Triple-threat quarterback Tadd Blackledge, who had been counted on to lead the Little Tigers to a Colonial Valley conference crown and re-write the PHS record book in the process, moved to Ohio.

The potential for Blackledge, 6-3 and 210 pounds as a sophomore, who could run, pass and kick, who could read defenses and work the option better than anyone on the team, seemed limitless. In the fourth game of the season last year, a key contest with Hightstown which PHS won, 7-0, Beachell and his top assistant Frank Francisco, decided to ditch starting senior quarterback Scott Thompson, a good passer but ineffective runner, and invest in the future.

With Blackledge directing the team, PHS won five of its last six to finish with a 6-3 record and tie Notre Dame for the first Colonial Valley championship. (PHS, incidentally, defeated Notre Dame 18-16, leading Beachell to feel that PHS should have been awarded the conference crown.)

"That investment would have paid off this year," predicted Beachell, who added, "I don't even like to think about it."

Personnel Shuffle. So much for what might have been. The result is that Beachell and Francisco are faced with a difficult reshuffling job, forced to borrow from the defense to share up the offense.

PHS is not alone, however, in having problems at quarterback. When veteran Hightstown quarterback Al Hausherr suffered a leg injury in an industrial accident this summer which sidelined him for the year, Beachell noted that as a consequence only one league opponent – Lawrence – has a returning quarterback.

Until the Hausheer mishap, Beachell had picked Hightstown, the largest school in the conference with a large number of returning lettermen as the team to beat in the league.

Now, he feels, it may all be up for grabs again. But as for predicting how his own team might fare this year in the conference, Beachell replies there are too many questions that have to be answered.

Tom Seiler
Can He Take Over?

Dave Miller
Man on a Spot

"The difference between a 6-3 and a 3-6 season is a pretty thin line," stated Francisco. "A few mistakes, a few breaks that could go either way is all that it takes."

"I'll go this far," said Beachell. "I don't think anybody better count us out. Anybody who plays us will know they've been in a game. Our kids are hitters; they take pride in being on a PHS team."

Offensively, PHS runs out of the I formation and likes the option. Last year, as it turned out, there was little option.

Of its 12 touchdowns last fall, only two came on the pass. Completion rate for the Little Tigers was less than 17 percent. In fact, the two top receivers were a tight end and a tailback.

"We would like to bring the passing attack up and do a few things differently," conceded Beachell. "Frank and I were both disappointed in the way things turned out last year."

Man on a Spot. Because Blackledge appeared to be a fixture at quarterback for the next two years, thoughts of grooming a replacement were a year away. With Thompson graduated, the grim reality is that Beachell has no one with any experience throwing the ball.

The player Beachell has chosen to run the team is senior Dave Miller. An All-Conference defensive back last year, the 5-10½, 160-lb. Miller won a letter as a sophomore.

Miller, says Beachell, is one of the fastest on the team, bright, and not afraid to run with the ball. "The kind of game we are going to play requires the quarterback to run with the ball. He's not afraid to hit."

Miller would surrender the quarterback job in a second, says Beachell, if there were someone else. That someone will probably have to be Tom Seiler, a 5-11, 165-lb. junior. "Seiler is one of the most versatile players on the team, that's why we switched him to quarterback," commented Beachell.

"I don't think anybody better count us out. Anybody who plays us will know they've been in a game. Our kids are hitters; they take pride in being on a PHS team."

A Receiver, Too. Although he didn't play that much offensively, Seiler wound up as the team's fourth leading receiver. He began the season as a wingback. He has also picked up some speed over last year but, like Miller, he has no experience in passing.

Two other candidates are junior Dean Pannell (5-11, 165), out for the first time, and sophomore Leroy Hunninghake, quarterback of the freshmen team. Hunninghake gained some renown last fall as an eastern coast champion in the annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition.

"We're satisfied we have kids who can hand the ball off and run the option," said Beachell, in commenting on the quarterback problem. "Whether we have someone who will have the field leadership and ability to put the ball up at the right place is

Tigers Hope Experienced Line and Healthy Isom Will Put New Teeth in Their 1977 Running Game

The presence of a veteran line and the return to full health of Captain Bobby Isom, a fine running back, has given Princeton University's football team hope that it will show considerable improvement this season in ability to move the ball on the ground.

A year ago, the Tigers began the season at Ithaca with three sophomores (center Andy Stephens, guard Greg Bauman and tackle Dan Friel) under varsity fire for the first time. Now they return as lettermen with classmate Dwight Coleman, who wasn't even listed among the top three on the first 1976 depth chart but developed so well that he earned a starting berth in early October.

Two other juniors, Chet Szablak and Tim Manahan, both saw sufficient action last fall in a reserve capacity to win letters and are currently battling for the starting assignment at left guard. Coach Bob Casciola's interior line will accordingly be composed of five lettermen all of whom will return next year, a bright spot in the dark tunnel in which Princeton football has been operating for most of the seventies.

With Glenn Robinson, slowed by injuries last year but a letterman in '75, at split end and Frank Vuono, another senior letterman at tight end, the Tiger line will consist of Coleman at left tackle, Szablak or Manahan at left guard, Stephens at center, Bauman at right guard and Friel at right tackle. Size is not a plus–in fact, it has been a Princeton weakness for close to a decade. Friel is the biggest at 235, the others on the interior line scale all the way down to 210.

Bobby Isom
CoCaptain, Running Back

Isom a Standout. Even behind a largely inexperienced line, Isom ran through Cornell on opening day last September for 161 yards. Next week, against Rutgers, he suffered an ankle injury, and the extreme promise he showed as a sophomore was never realized during the rest of the 1976 season, which saw Princeton win only one of its last eight games. Isom's total yardage for the year was 439, but only 40 yards on average in the last seven games.

As co-captain (with defensive back Larry Lutz) Isom is naturally extremely eager to be a key player in leading the Tigers out of the wilderness. He spent part of the summer running five miles a day to strengthen his legs and reported in top shape when practice began August 26.

A 201-lb. junior letterman, Gary Larson, will move into the spot at fullback vacated by Art Walker '77. Used sparingly, he nonetheless scored twice while carrying the ball only nine times on short yardage situations. Junior Ken Foote, a jayvee a year ago, is Larson's backup.

Senior Kirby Lockhart and junior Steve Garza continue to battle for the job at quarterback, which Lockhart holds at the moment because he started seven games last year while Garza was running the B team. It will not be until after scrimmages with Kings Point and Wilkes College have been evaluated that Casciola will name the starter for the opener against Dartmouth at Hanover a week from Saturday.

Of the 22 players who will hold down starting positions on September 17, one is likely to be a sophomore. The opportunity for him to move into the lineup came when junior letterman Jim Rutka decided to stay in Canada, his native land, to concentrate on his medical studies. He had been tabbed as the starting slotback.

Leap-frogging from third to first on the depth chart has been Vince Battaglia, one of half a dozen members of the Class of 1980 who is being counted on to help the offense. His job will be no less than to succeed Mike Carter, whose solid three-year career came to an end with his graduation last June

---

One of the few two-year lettermen on the large squad has decided to forego the sport in his final year. Corner back Kevin Haggerty, counted on for a starting position on a basis of his considerable experience, will in all probability be replaced by Jerry Peacock, a junior who won his letter last fall when he started a number of games in place of regulars who were injured.

Larry Lutz
Co-Captain, Defansive Back

Two other positions on defense are in doubt, one of them at strong safety because a member of the Class of 1976 who had not been expected back has returned to college. Bob Daly dropped out of Princeton after the 1974 season but is now making a strong bid for the job that had originally been assigned to varsity holdover Mark Goldstrom.

At left tackle, where the capable Steve Fletcher held forth for three years, junior Bob Blumling is getting a run for his money from Joe Lundie. At 240 pounds, Lundie has 15 on Blumling and would join Battaglia as a representative of the Class of 1980 in the starting lineup if he can convince the coaches of his potential.

Now that Haggerty is out, there are only four 1976 starters on the defenalve platoon. Lutz is the only regular to return in the deep secondary; up front, there are Jerry Fitzgibbons at middle guard, Pete Funke at right tackle and Bill Mitchell at right end. Funke was, actually, a starter only because All-East Ted Schiller was slowed by an ankle injury.

A scrimmage with Kings Point was held last weekend and another with Wilkes (closed to the public) is scheduled for Friday afternoon. The next stop is Hanover, a week from Saturday, where the Tigers had the good fortune to win in their last appearance.

That was in 1974, when Ron Beible as a junior had a standout day in the 14-7 triumph. Dartmouth, however, was no better than 3-6 three years ago, and this season has most of its personnel back from a fine 6-3 team which placed third among the Ivies and demolished Princeton, 33 to 7.

Football Clinic at Stadium Saturday

Princeton University's football team will host its seventh annual football clinic on Saturday from 9:30 until 11:30 at Palmer Stadium.

The clinic is designed for young fans, 8-14, and their parents. The format will be similar to the one which Head Coach Bob Casciola instituted two years ago..

Casciola will set up a series of stations that will include two to three players from a specific position and one coach. "Those in attendance can then move from station to station, learning the techniques of each position and getting a chance to meet the members of the squad," Casciola said. "This gives the clinic a personal touch.."

A portion of the morning will be set aside for youngsters to take pictures, and there will also be a raffle for tickets to each of Princeton's home games as well as four official collegiate footballs.

"We consider the football clinic one of our most important public relations projects of the year," Casciola pointed out. "It's an excellent way of introducing young people to Princeton football as well as being an experience that they will enjoy."

something that will have to be answered. We'll see."

With his speed, Miller is, potentially, the best option quarterback PHS has had, Francisco pointed out. "And although he's untested at quarterback, he has had two years of football experience.

Turner Vs. Grisham. The battle to replace the fleet Tony Strent at tailback (he scored six TDs, no other Little Tiger scored more than two) centers on Barry Turner, who played every game as a defenseive safetyman last year and was All-Conference at that position, and Daryl Grisham. Grisham's high point was a 34-yard ramp for the only score in the victory over Hightstown.

Both are fast, with an edge to Grisham in pure speed. Grisham is 5-9, 160, while Turner, who also doubles as a punter and kickoff man, is 5-7, 160.

Two other contenders are Tony Intortaglia, a 5-4, 158-lb. junior, 'a dart, who can really shoot out when he has to," says Beachell, and sophomore Mark Greenland. The latter is 5-10, 160, untested, and attended Lawrenceville School during the football season last year. Intartaglia can also play swing back and defense.

Fullback. The top contender is Keith Wodsworth, team co-captain along with Turner, who played 100 percent both ways last year, serving as a linebacker on defense. (He was one of four to go both ways; the others were Blackledge, Bob Campbell and Chris Cahill.)

A slow starter offensively, Wadsworth caught fire in mid-season and was the team's leading ball carrier for the final three games. Competition will come from Chris McDonald, 5-10, 180, who was a backup to Wadsworth last year.

Others listed as fullback on the offensive chart are Ralph Sferra, a 190-lb. untested sophomore; Mike Waite, a junior transfer from Illinois (5-10, 170) who played the sport there and "appears to be a good athlete," says Beachell, and John Forrey, a junior. The latter was sidelined most of the season with an injury and most of his experience has been as a defensive back.

Wingback. Bob Campbell finished the '76 season here and is No. 1 at the position this fall. Fast (4.9 in the 40-yard dash), tough, he is described by Beachell as the team's best blocker. He is 5-11, 170.

Trying to unseat Campbell will be four others: Dan Alcazar, a senior who left soccer to try football and who has good size and speed; Jeff Russell, 6-0, 170-lb. junior, a member of the jayvee squad last year; Mike Santoro, another junior, 5-7, 150, who has looked good in drills, according to Beachell, but is new to the position; and Mark Adams, a sophomore, who is a good prospect, a hard worker but has no experience on offense.

Summing up, Beachell believes the potential in the backfield is good except at quarterback, a key position. The passing is an X factor--unknown at this point. Another big question mark is how soon and how skillfully, with no previous experience, Miller will learn to read the option.

Then this warning to foes from Beachell: "If they try to defense us against the option, they better be good at it, they better cover every exit. With Wadsworth and Grisham in there we might tear somebody up."

—Preston Eckmeder

If you're considering a BMW 530i, drive a Peugeot 604.

Like the BMW 530i, the Peugeot 604 SL has power steering (ours is rack and pinion), power-assisted four-wheel disc brakes, stabilizer bars front and rear, McPherson struts, and a head-spinning ability to make tight turns.

The Peugeot 604 has also been engineered for a superior level of comfort. With oversized shock absorbers, large coil springs, a floating differential, and seats that are actually tuned to the suspension system.

And with comforts like air conditioning, fully reclining front bucket seats, and power windows—all standard equipment.

But comfort isn't the only thing that sets the 604 apart from the BMW. There's also the price. Which starts at about $11,000* And which may be its most comforting feature of all.

competition on October 8. The teams will compete against each other in two ten-week sessions. Players will compete for prize points each week leading to individual awards for each session and a grand prize based on total points.

There will also be challenge matches, team prizes, league parties, and exchange matches. The program is limited to 24 players between 12 and 18.

WINNERS LISTED

In Springdale Tournaments. Dick Bradley, who has a hole in one to his credit but never before won a major championship at Springdale Golf Club, is the 1977 winner of the Harry Kinnell Tournament. In two days of stroke play with each contestant using his full handicap, Bradley shot a net 129.

The runners-up, five strokes off the pace, were Dave Savage and John Gianacaci at 134.

The seniors' champion is the University golf coach, Bill Quackenbush, whose son, Scott, won the club championship earlier this summer. His 36-hole total of 157 was the best 36-hole gross recorded–seven better than runner-up Walter Hankin.

Donovan Ellis' net of 140 was best in the 55-59 age bracket, while a 139 won for Dick Leibler among those 60-64. Bradley also took the 65-69 title with his 129, with Ross Shrader, a former seniors titleist, shooting 145 to top those 70 to 74 years old. The over-75 title went to B.E. Bergesen, Jr. with a net of 139.

PRINCETON GIRLS EXCEL

In Monmouth Tournament. In the Garden State Junior Classics tennis tournament held last week in Monmouth, Irene Usiskin of Princeton advanced to the semi-finals in the girls 12 division before losing to another Princeton area player, Linda Sinuk, the No. 2 seed.

Diane Aronovic of Princeton, seeded No. 1 in the girls 14, reached the final round before losing. Others from the area competing in the tourney include Suzanne Usiskin, Paul Sinuk, Mark Goodman and Allan Aronovic.

CONTE'S REBOUNDS

To Win Softball Title. Conte's defeated Center Sports twice last week to capture the Adult Softball League playoff championship. Conte's had also won the regular season crown by compiling a 21-1 record.

At the week's start, Conte's trailed in the best of five series, two games to one. The series was a typical Conte's – Center Sports confrontation. Conte's and Center Sports were both ranked in the county's top ten softball standing throughout the year.

Game four of the playoffs saw Center Sports score a first-inning run on three singles. Conte's tied the game in the second, but Center took a 2-1 lead in the third inning.

Doug Heil's two run homer gave Conte's the lead for the first time in the fourth. Conte's then iced the game in the sixth by scoring three runs on three singles and a Center Sports error. Each team added a run in the seventh to make it a 7-3 final.

Heil had a total of four rbi's for Conte's and Charlie Warshefski batted 3-for-3. Jack and Jamie Petrone each had three hits for Center.

In the deciding fifth game, won by Conte's 7-2, Conte's scored twice in the first inning on four straight singles. Two singles and a sacrifice fly gave Center a fourth-inning run, but Conte's put the game away by adding five runs on six hits and an error in the fourth.

For Conte's Wes Cawley had a three-for-three night and played an excellent defensive game at shortstop. Bill Bartolino excelled defensively for Center.

The series produced fine hitting performances by Conte's Ed Coldren (11-for-18) and Wes Cawley (9-for-18). Bartolino was 8-for-14, while Jack and Jamie Petrone were both 10-for-19 for Center Sports.

FALL LEAGUE PLANNED

For Women's Doubles. The Princeton Recreation Department will conduct a women's fall tennis league, beginning September 26 from noon to 1:30 on weekdays. All Princeton residents are eligible to participate, and must have a partner.

This season's league will be set up as team tennis. Those who do not have a partner may register as a substitute. The deadline for registration is Thursday, September 15. For further information and registration, visit the Recreation Department in the Valley Road School.

REGISTER NOW

For PP&K Competition. Princeton area youngsters will be dusting off their footballs and loosening up their throwing arm soon for the 1977 Punt, Pass & Kick competition.

This year the area level of PP&K will be sponsored by Nassau-Conover Motors, Rt. 206, Princeton. The competition will be held Saturday, October 1, at 2 at the Community Park Field. Entry blanks and practice tips are available at the Nassau-Conover showroom.

Nationally, PP&K is celebrating its 17th anniversary. It is sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America in cooperation with the National Football League. Since it was started in 1961, the program has attracted more than 14 million youngsters -- and participation this year is expected to top the 1,300,000 mark.

Participants in the Punt, Pass & Kick program compete only against others their own age. Any youngster 8 through 13, accompanied by a parent or guardian, may register to compete in PP&K. There is no entrance fee and no body contact during competition. No special equipment is needed and participating does not impair a youngster's amateur standing. Scoring is based on distance and accuracy.

FALL SAILING TO START

Sunday on Lake. A 12-week racing schedule for Sunfish and Laser sailors will start Sunday at 2 at the Carnegie Sailing Club's facilities on Lake Carnegie.

All Sunfish and Laser sailors are welcome to compete in the series that will be run every Sunday afternoon until November 27. Trophies and prizes will be awarded to the winners. Further information may be obtained from Commodore Peter M. Grosz, at 924-6019 or from any member at the race dock on Sunday.
